Tracking & Survival

Track

interpret and understand

The Art of Tracking is a specialised skill that can be learnt and mastered. The skill to be able to follow signs, marks and other types of tracks must by no means be seen as being limited to soft, sandy patches. Tracking is the ability to follow and interpret movement over differing terrain types ranging from easy (sandy) to difficult (mountainous).

It is all about understanding and learning to interpret so much more about the bush and wildlife as participants search for, track and find game.
